(Citywide)	Sean Kelly	skelly777@rocketmail.com		With the city just starting to recover from the covid pandemic is this really the best time to open a shelter? Long Beach has a had a rapid rise in homeless population. We have small encampments throughout the city because there is no housing, but we can open a shelter for others? The city has also seen a huge influx in violent crimes but nothing is being done to correct this issue. Instead of starting other projects, maybe its time we fix all the current issues that we face as a city, Its time you put the people of Long Beach before your own political agendas,	4/5/2021
