Obama, mis hijos conocen mas de ella que de nadie mas. Hoy en el evento de Houghton Park hable con 25+ personas latinas y les preguntamos a nuestros hijos todas sus sugerencias aquí y dijeron Obama. Mis hijos crecerán con algo que ellos son parte y tendrán una razón por la cual ellos mismos tendrán raíces en su comunidad de NLB. Este es por el futuro de nuestros hijos. También este nombre abrirá nuevas relaciones fuera de nuestro barrio, tendremos atención nacional.	12/19/15

I therefore submit that the new library be named the North Long Beach Veterans Memorial Library. It would tie in nicely with our Veteran's Day Parade as well! Mike Harris	12/20/15

We are trying to bring our neighborhood together and I believe choosing a political figure for the name would be very divisive. Since the new library is on Atlantic Ave, the same street that the Veteran's Day Parade is held on every year, I would like to submit for your consideration "THE VETARANS MEMORIAL LIBRARY" It would honor our veterans and not further divide us.	12/21/15

I don't appose the naming it after anyone as long as this individual has some sort of connection or has done something to improve this beautiful City of Long Beach I call home. I understand the first Lady may be inspirational to some but has done nothing for me. Both my children attend the LBUSD. They are more entreat by our military, so I would rather naming it after a veteran.	12/21/15

The fact that the youth chose the name speaks volumes to Obama's influence on them. Just imagine the sense of pride kids will have walking into the library knowing they helped name it, they are a part of building a better future for themselves. My hope is the children don't walk away thinking that we do not value their input. Let's not maintain the status quo. Let's see how many kids can be inspired by this.	12/21/15
