This is the same operator who's been going between the post office, Broadway and Atlantic on 3rd. He spent nearly a month (!!!) 3rd/Atlantic before his latest move. He needs at least two others to move all his crap. If the city won't accept responsibility let's do it ourselves. I've had enough of not being able to walk on OUR sidewalks. I'd happily light a damn match and have done so mentally (only) for the past couple of months.

We should also bring up the fact that the EVAD smells like a damn urinal. Just today, someone was caught, member out, urinating at the bus stop in front of Vonis. The guy who "lives" at Seams on 1st consistently uses that site as his restroom/bedroom. We shouldn't have to live like this!

Thanks Cristina Wenz!! That encampment grew from 1 to 3 tents. We need to get them out of the neighborhood before they cause trouble.

I agree with you. This is the same shit when we move here 4 years ago and it's the same shit that was here 12 years ago when we used to live here. City, police none of them will do anything because it doesn't impact them since they don't actually live here. There needs to be a push back from the community and I don't condone violence but we are getting pushed to the limits.

From the makers of courtyard by Marriott come refugee camp by Wyndham. Courtesy of the Longbeach,California 📍 Long Beach, Calif. And the city council. Im sure he will have a grand pee during the #grandprix2023 . Deputize us 📍 Long Beach City and we will handle it for ourselves or continue turning Iowa by the sea into #Detroit with a beach.

This mess is next to the Inn of LB and medical offices in the Alta Way alley. On Friday, trash day, it was on the grassy area by the medical offices; a cop came by to talk to the "resident" yesterday and when he refused services, just let him stay. This mass of junk was blocking the alleyway - so he moved it closer to the wall. The cops refuse to move people, say it's "out of our hands" but they could move him because he's blocking passage to the alley. How much more of this crap must we deal with? This is a health issue, because of the proximity to the medical offices. Of course it's a bigger health issue for anyone who goes close to this encampment. When do we get our city back? I'm ready to give this guy the heave-ho if the city won't.

The king of 3rd is now in front of several businesses on the south side of 3rd after moving from in front of USPS parking. We need to move him out of here now. Any ideas?

Reported this morning

January 30 · 🌐

The two seen in the alley way were also seen accessing the Lafayette condos less than 20mins later illegally, entering the building and going up the elevator.

If you live in the building make sure the door closes behind you.

We also have a video of them looking around that we have sent to the police department.

If you report something, make sure you say a video or pictures to show to the police department so they can create a report.

I'm calling the police every time I see something like this. They need to move to a place that can accommodate their activities without violating the law. They act like they own this area.

Approximately 3:45pm this afternoon the woman pictured was trying to enter the patio of The Crab Shack on the corner of Broadway & Atlantic. I was on a call at the time & I wasn't able to get the photo of her as she was tugging on the gate trying to force her way inside but as soon as I ended my call I managed to get a photo of her.

How is it that low-income and homeless EXPECT to live near the ocean? Just makes no sense.

Have you heard about this? I'm concerned this development will invite more criminal activity into our neighborhood. The 4th/Atlantic development is proposing 75% supportive housing for unhoused.

Community Open House

Learn more about Denali, a new affordable housing development coming to 4th street.

Join Long Beach City Councilwoman Zendejas, Long Beach Development Services, Covenant Presbyterian Church and Holo Communities to learn more about the proposed development that is expected to begin construction in 2025.
