Long Beach Animal Care Services Adopt “Compassion Saves” Operating Model

Adoption Programs

Outreach Efforts

Facility Improvements

The Long Beach Animal Care Services (LBACS) Compassion Saves Policy is an operational direction for LBACS that will support the goal to reduce euthanasia and increase pet adoption rates.

This approach was presented to the Long Beach City Council at a Study Session on April 16 and included updates on implementation of audit recommendations, current policies and policies to be included in the LBACS Strategic Plan.

Staff reviewed the mission of ACS to:

- 1) Serve, protect, and shelter lost, abandoned and homeless companion animals
- 2) Place animals into humane environments
- 3) Promote responsible pet ownership and reduce animal over population
- 4) Celebrate the human/animal bond

While LBACS statistics have trended favorable over the last 9-10 years showing a 49 percent decrease in shelter admissions, an 82 percent decrease in euthanasia, a 78 percent increase in adoptions, and an overall 54 percent increase in combined adoptions for cats and dogs, the Compassion Saves approach will position LBACS to be an even more successful operation and a more forward thinking shelter by committing that no healthy or treatable animal will be euthanized without an aggressive search for a positive outcome.

In addition, the new policy calls for:

A stronger commitment to foster care, behavior and training programs.

Support for spay and neuter, and adoption programs.

Pet retention programs and education to help with issues that could result in a pet being surrendered to the shelter.

Establishing a non-profit organization to raise private funds for LBACS.

Maintain LBACS as open admissions to accommodate all unwanted and homeless pets.

Strengthening collaborations with the community, rescue partners, and volunteers.

For more information about LBACS, visit www.long-beach.gov/acs and Facebook: LongBeachAnimalCare, and Instagram and Twitter: @LBAnimalCare.

Summer Class and Specialty Camp Registration Going On Now

Registration for new recreation classes offered by Long Beach Parks, Recreation and Marine (PRM) starts May 6. More than 400 classes in art, music, nature, fitness, special interest subjects, and adult sports leagues and aquatics programs will be offered starting in June. These programs help children to develop socially and become prepared for school, and provide fun options for all ages to exercise, explore new hobbies and improve work place skills.

In addition to great fee-based classes, the "Recreation Connection" also lists dozens of free and low-cost activities, including Summer Fun Day programs for youth and Be SAFE (Summer Activities in a Friendly Environment) for families at 11 local parks open for extended evening hours, youth sports leagues, and teen centers and senior centers. A park directory with listings of amenities and activities at over 50 parks is included. Look for the publication in your mailbox, stop by a local library or park community center to pick one up, or find the digital version at www.lbparks.org.

"I am excited about all the great summer programs PRM is offering throughout the city," said Parks, Recreation and Marine Director Gerardo Mouet. "From week-long theme camps for kids, free family programs at parks, and events planned to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the El Dorado Nature Center, there are hundreds of ways to make this a memorable summer."

PRM is offering dozens of week-long specialty camps in art, filmmaking, engineering, sports and more. Kids can have lots of new experiences and the weekly time frames can help families to schedule around busy summers.

While dogs & cats get most of the attention here at our shelter, we also care for rabbits as well. They even have their own special area...Bunny Barn Park! Our Bunny Barn was built by Jason Barnes as an Eagle Scout project in 2014 and our Park's department built an official City park sign for it.

Our tiny park and barn are managed by senior volunteer Dan "The Bunny Man." Dan has been a volunteer here at the shelter for over 8 years and can usually be seen caring for our rabbits on any given Saturday. Dan is instrumental in providing assistance with rabbit adoptions, rescues, transport, medical and education. When he is not attending to rabbits, he helps out wherever there is a need. His knowledge, service, love and care for our shelter are invaluable. Dan, you are clearly "The Man!"

Dan's volunteerism was recognized in 2015 with a "Go Long Beach Award" from Mayor Robert Garcia for his outstanding work at the shelter.
