Hi Suzie.

I live in the private community in Bixby Village and walk through Channel View Park often. As I am sure you are aware, Ashlee's Bench is very much a part of the park and is a great reminder of our sense of community. It would be amazing if we could change the park's name to Ashlee's Park in honor of her and her family. It seems to have a lot of support and I know would be very meaningful to not only the family, but those that frequent the park often.

Thank you for your consideration,

Dear Ms. Price,

It would be greatly appreciated by the community of Long Beach if you could persuade the City Council to name the park where Ashlee's bench is located, "Ashlee's Park". It would honor this beautiful woman who lost her life at such a young age, and would at the same time honor her father, Officer Rich who has done so much for our community helping the homeless and others in need. In my opinion it is also a way to recognize a wonderful officer that has helped thousands of people and having this park named after his daughter would mean the world to him and Ashlee's mother. I really hope the City Council will strongly consider this and authorize the renaming of this Park. I have all the faith that you could persuade them, as I have seen the great work you do for our community and for the District Attorney's Office in Orange County.

Thank you for your consideration to this matter,

Sincerely,

I knew Ashlee since she was a pre-teen when I moved back into my birth neighborhood. She and I would walk our dogs together and solve the problems of our life. She was one of those mature teens that everyone had babysit or provide dog care!

We would all appreciate an area to remember her and her gentle spirit and show others what she was all about. Designating that area as "Ashlee's Park" would provide all of us with some solace that she will not be forgotten.

Dear Suzie Price,

I am sending you this email in order to formally request that the City of Long Beach rename the special area of Channel View Park where Ashlee's bench and the new playground are to "Ashlee's Park". This would be an excellent way to acknowledge and honor Ashlee and the legacy of helping others that Ashlee has left.

I have spent many hours in Channel View Park and believe the community surrounding this park would greatly appreciate the City acknowledging and honoring Ashlee in this way.

-EXTERNAL-

Dear Suzie Price and Long Beach City Council,

Please consider naming a portion of Channel View Park as "Ashlee's Park," Ashlee Armond. The area to consider is where she lost her life when her car went into the water. Currently there is a bench in her honor and a recently planted tree. There is a reflective guard rail in this location to prevent what happened to Ashlee from happening to someone else. Her tragic loss was felt by her family and the community. The renaming of this section of park would preserve Ashlee's memory, and the memory of those that have similarly lost their lives. Renaming would honor her parents, her father a police officer who has served our community, and the families that have endured a tragic loss like the one felt by Ashlee's family. Mother's Day just past and Father's Day is soon, now would be a great time to consider renaming this section of park, Ashlee's Park, it would be a great gesture to our Long Beach community.

Hello Suzie and Staff,

There has been a group advocating for the naming of Ashlee's Park, the strip of grass that's been turned into a beautiful park that runs parallel to Studebaker along the river bank.

I think it's a wonderful idea. She was a sweet, caring girl, so concerned with helping others. Her mission is definitely being upheld by her LBPd father Rich Armond and mom Shelly. Rich has been responsible for helping the homeless find themselves and get back into life with family and friends. Such a noble calling and a wonderful way to honor the life of his young daughter that died right at the beautiful park. Thank you so much for the consideration.

Hi Suzie, my husband Sean Pridy and I are residents of Alamitos Heights and we would like to ask that you support naming a part of Channel View Park where Ashlee lost her life after her. From what we've seen her family has been very involved in the community helping to combat homelessness. I myself have donated to Ashlee's fund in the past to help support the work of Christine Barry on behalf of Ashlee Armond's memory.

Ashlee lost her life much too young but her legacy is still helping people here in Long Beach through Ashlee's fund as well as the continuing work of her family. It would be a fitting tribute to her memory as well as comforting to her family that a tiny portion of Long Beach be named after her. It will also give people a special place to honor Ashlee's memory.

Thank you for your time and support in this matter.

-EXTERNAL-

Hello Councilperson Price,

As a resident of University Park Estates I oppose the efforts to rename Channel View Park. I applaud Rich Armond's hard work and he should certainly be rewarded for it. However, Ashlee Harmond was driving under the influence of drugs and alcohol the night she died. She was drinking at a party on Margo Ave. and decided to leave the party to drive to her boyfriend's home. Unfamiliar with the neighborhood, she drove down the wrong street and into the channel and drowned.

My 11-year-old daughter attended Kettering and now attends Rogers. She asked me who Ashlee was a few years ago after seeing her name on the bench. I told my daughter the story of how Ashlee died and used it as a teaching moment on the associated dangers of using drugs and drinking and driving and I believe it made an impression on her. Should Ashlee be posthumously honored for her mistakes in life that led to her own death, what lesson is that now sending to my daughter and other young girls and boys about using drugs and drinking and driving? Do you support children using drugs and drinking and driving? Supporting the renaming of Channel View park would affirm that you do. Thank you.
